

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A die carrier has a body with a primary surface adapted for attachment to a substrate die. The body at least partially defines a fluid chamber. A fill port and an evacuate port are each fluidically connected to the fluid chamber.